SUBWAY® RESTAURANTS REVEALS BOLD NEW LOGO AND SYMBOL
Global Sandwich Chain Previews Changes in New U.S. Advertising Campaign

Milford, Conn., Aug. 5, 2016 – SUBWAY® restaurants, the world’s largest sandwich chain, reveals a bold update to its iconic logo, along with a powerful new symbol. Consumers will catch a glimpse of the new logo in ads airing Friday, Aug. 5.

This is the next step in the evolution of the brand following menu enhancements and the launch of SUBWAY® Digital earlier this year. The ability to position the SUBWAY® brand as a delicious, nutritious and affordable choice for today’s discerning consumers, and to reach them across all channels, are essential to these changes.

“We are on an exciting journey to meet the changing tastes of our guests,” said Suzanne Greco, president and CEO of SUBWAY® restaurants. “The SUBWAY brand is recognized throughout the world, and this new look reinforces our commitment to staying fresh and forward-thinking with a design that is clear and confident without losing sight of our heritage.”

The new logo stands up tall, bold and confident, capturing the essence of the brand in a fresh, contemporary look. The core colors have been optimized to live and work across all channels. And the symbol, a new asset for the brand, distills the iconic arrows into a powerful and simple mark. Capturing the essence of the brand in a smaller footprint, the arrows symbolize the choices SUBWAY® provides its guests.

Two new broadcast spots, “Clean Slate” and “Everyone,” will air Friday, Aug. 5 during prime time and across digital channels. The commercials highlight the #SearchforBetter and SUBWAY’s role in that journey.

The new logo and symbol, along with additional visual assets, will roll out to all SUBWAY® restaurants, communications, and digital experiences worldwide beginning in early 2017.
